The Charlotte Post

On March 11th, 2023, at 4pm EST, Legacy Music Co. brings, “For The Culture”. This event is geared towards uplifting the youth whose interests lie in the music and entertainment industry. For ages 13 and older, For The Culture is a networking mixer and showcase. We invite all youth and their parents/guardians to enjoy an event that will open the doors for many opportunities. Held at the Legacy Music Co. headquarters located just 15 miles outside of downtown Charlotte, NC, will you help us do it “For The Culture”?

Reaching out to you is a must because you are For The Culture. Being a Pulitzer grantee and spear-heading The Charlotte Post, everything you’re doing is for the uplifting of the black community. This aligns with what Legacy’s owner, Nathaniel “Nature” Jones, envisions for the black community. Especially whenever you cover campaigns that raise funds and donations for programs like your article on the “Performing Arts Benefit at West Charlotte High School.”

I would love to have the opportunity to interview you and a chance to be interviewed about For The Culture.

Sincerely,
Quentin Nash
